SAMPLE

What would you do?

1. You and a friend go to a party where most of the people are two to three years older than you. Not long after arriving, some boys start to tease your friend but they don't realise you are there with him too. What do you do?

2. You are sitting on a bench with some of your brother's friends when one of them offers you a cigarette - you hate smoking. What do you do?

3. You are in town but have run out of money. Your mate suggests stealing some chocolate from the newsagents because they have done it before and not been caught. What do you do?

4. You are walking along the street with a group of older friends and you see two young people from your school, one of which is the brother of your best mate. The rest of the group talk about playing a trick on the two young people coming towards them. What do you do?

5. You promised your mum you would be home to babysit your younger sister but a couple of your friends have arranged to meet with some people they really like, and one of them likes you too. What do you do?
